Experience

Ruth Loven, a leading partner in the firm's Litigation Group, specializes in civil and commercial litigation and class action suits. Her expertise also extends to international intellectual property disputes, product liability cases, mass torts, internet law, consumer rights and crisis management.

Ruth has vast experience in defending clients facing difficult and complex legal disputes and is especially skilled at handling sensitive litigation that involves the public interest. For example, she has represented numerous companies, based in Israel and internationally, in high-profile class action suits and mass tort actions. This has included lawsuits involving tobacco corporations, high-value product liability and antitrust cases, lawsuits dealing with cellular radiation and other environmental issues, and numerous other disputes that have drawn significant public attention.

Ruth's clients have included global technology companies, leading internet service providers, cellular service providers, tobacco corporations, and domestic and international banks.

Ruth is also specialized in handling international intellectual property disputes, representing both Israeli and foreign clients. Over the years, she has become well-acquainted with legal systems and intellectual property regulations outside Israel, which enables her to provide comprehensive representation.

Ruth has been named by Chambers Global among the leading lawyers in Israel for dispute resolution. In addition, she was designated a 'recommended lawyer' for her class actions expertise by The Legal 500, which also recognized her in its local litigation and arbitration category for representing OJSC VTB Bank "in a rare case involving enforcement of a Russian judgment in Israel, which reached the Supreme Court."

Ruth received her LL.B. in 2000 and her LL.M., magna cum laude, in 2006, both from Tel Aviv University. She was a member of the Tel-Aviv University Law Review, Iyunei Mishpat. Ruth was admitted to the Israel Bar in 2001, joined the firm that year and became a partner in 2008.
